Liz O'Keefe and Danae Trull joke and giggle about the day's lunch choices in the cafeteria.

Checking In

Early every weekday morning, the tranquil, stable halls of HHS endure a remote transformation. At 7:50 a.m. students begin to pile into the building by the mobs, and the tranquility is somehow drowned out by the ear-piercing voices. "Checking In" has become a daily ritual for these high school students. It begins the start of another school day.

Many of the privileged upperclassmen drive themselves to school as the underclassmen suffer through the parental carpools, in envy of the student drivers. Once inside the building, the majority of the students enjoy socializing in the hallways and in the overcrowded restrooms where the girls fight for a mirror position.

Finally, the 8:00 a.m. bell sounds. The previously overcrowded hallways are instantaneously vacant and quiet. Only the familiar sound of attendance checks, and teachers conducting class can be heard. Another day of school at H.H.S. has begun.

As many underclassmen rush to the nearby Burger King for lunch, they find themselves waiting in long lines with other classmates to order their hamburger, fries, and Cokes.

The sophomore class awaits the next event at the homecoming pep assembly.

Student Life

After coming to school for six and a half hours, a break is needed. There is much more to school than attending classes. Many activities are often found and can be fun. These activities include cruising, shopping at the mall, going to the movies and many people, in order to save money, just go to a friend's house or stay at home and rent movies to watch. Other activities can be considered a chore like housework or the dreaded homework.

Whether it's something great and exciting or just something that must be done, there is life after school.

At our annual bonfire the students of Hammond High show their spirit for homecoming week.

Junior candidates take time out to wave to the crowd while riding on the float during the homecoming parade.

Wildcats On Parade

Homecoming week is perhaps the most exciting week here. It gives students a chance to have fun dressing up, enjoy class competitions, and show their skill in hall decorations and class floats.

Monday was Baby/Pajama Day, Tuesday was Fifties Day, Wednesday was Seventies Day, Thursday was Disney Day and Friday was Purple and White Day.

Hall decorations were judged on Thursday morning and the winners were announced during half-time. Coming in first place were, of course, the seniors, second place went to the sophomores, third place went to the freshmen, and last place was given to the juniors.

Thursday night there was a bonfire that got everyone fired up and ready for the game. The band played, the cheerleaders cheered, and the spectators watched in awe as the flames rose higher and higher.

Finally, a parade was held on Friday afternoon in which classes decorated floats and the court candidates rode on them. Winning the class float competition were the sophomores.

Once again Homecoming Week has been a success.

Sophomores sting the other classes with their first place float for the homecoming parade.

Wednesday night's spirits raised with the flames of the bonfire.

Our Wildcat football players sit back and relax while the cheerleaders do a good luck cheer during the homecoming pep assembly.

Homecoming Night Ends With A Bang!

The 1988-89 Homecoming night turned out to be a major victory for the Wildcats. This year the Wildcats had a 35-6 triumph over the Westside Cougars at Hammond High. The 1988 Mr. Football, Rodney Dennis, along with running back Mike Allen, said it was the crowd who gets the credit for helping them defeat the Cougars. Defensive back, Jonas Smith said, "Running through the tunnel and seeing all those people made us want to win even more than we wanted before. When we see a large crowd it makes us want to go out and kill." As for Pat Long, he will never forget checking off a play at the line of scrimmage and throwing a fifty yard touchdown to Rodney Dennis. The crowd was hyped up, the pep assembly at the end of the week was louder than usual with the Senior class winning the spirit stick. The night was even right with better than usual weather for the Homecoming game and a win. The game started on the right foot and ended on it also.

Pom Kat members sit with the crowd and anxiously await their turn to perform to "Oh Mickey" during halftime.

The Cats are on the prowl as Wildcat Jesse Cobb goes for the kill against a Gary Westside Cougar.

The wild, wild Wildcats Rodney Dennis and Jonas Smith take time out from the game to ask "How'd ya like us now?"

Determined and serious Albert Kovera set his mind to lead the HHS marching band on to the field to perform "Land of 1000 Dances."

Junior princess Lytoska Franks looks to a friend with a smile of relief after being announced a winner.

Shelley Sledge squeezes tightly on the hand of her escort, Matt March, and smiles proudly after being announced the 1988 Homecoming Queen.

Pretty Cats

It was no ordinary halftime. Friday, September 23, 1988 was Homecoming, and that meant a Homecoming court had to be chosen. Three freshmen, sophomores, and juniors along with four senior candidates ran for royal titles. Only one of each could be elected to the court.

These girls not only had to stand out on the football field yardlines in frigid temperatures wearing gorgeous formals at halftime with hundreds of eyes staring at them, but they also had to perform in two assemblies in front of the student body. They had to dance, lip-sync, speak, walk, and look stunning in order to capture those "must-have" votes in order to win.

The votes were cast on Thursday morning during second hour classes. Students voted in their grade level and also for one Homecoming Queen. Seniors voted only for a queen.

As halftime began, the anxious crowd patiently watched the band perform before the winners were announced. Cameras flashed, students yelled the names of their candidate choices, and fingers were crossed.

Crowned as the class princess was, freshman Cynthia Hernandez, sophomore Julissa Burgos, and junior Lytoska Franks. Tumara Cambell was announced first runner-up and then the 1988 Homecoming Queen, Shelley Sledge, was crowned as she cried tears of excitement and of pleasant surprise. Shelley said, "All of the nervousness and preparation really paid off when my name was announced and when I looked at my closest friends who were as excited as I was. It was the best feeling ever."

Students from the advanced foreign language classes (French, German, and Spanish) waited patiently in line to taste the goodies from all three cultures at the traditional Continental breakfast.

Mixed emotions are shown on the facial expressions of the fans at the Semi-state Goshen game.

Taking time out from her cheerleading responsibilities, sophomore Denise Mudd finds time to play patty-cake with Willie during a football pep assembly.

Goin' To Goshen

All week the players thought about it. The fans loved the excitement, the coaches could no longer wait. Then the hour came when Hammond High, it's first Semi-State appearance, would square off with the second rated team in the state, the Goshen Redskins. The Cats came out of the locker room pumped up for the game. In the first quarter it was all Goshen, but the Cats players played tough, despite giving up two touchdowns. In the second quarter, a pass from Pat Long to Rodney Dennis for a touchdown, which shaved the Goshen lead to 19-8. Our Wildcats, never before behind at half-time, came out of the lockerroom a little down. Matt

Taylor went down with an injured knee in the first half, and could not play in the second half, though his presence was felt on the sideline. The second half was a hundred yard jungle, with all the players playing like animals. The Cats played tough, but were upended by a final score of 39-14.

Clawing Summer Fun

Over the summer, many opportunities to attend a camp were given to students.

Students went as far as Europe and as close to Chicago.

The camps were not only educational but also athletic.

Many students learned new skills that will be used in the future.

Many people feel camps are just work, but it's not. A lot of fun is also involved in attending a camp.

Given class time to study, the students use the time wisely to broaden their educational horizon.

Academics

There is a time for fun and games and a time for seriousness. From 8:00 a.m. until 2:35 p.m. students are in attendance for classes. Perhaps the most important part of one's high school years is their ability to achieve academically. Our wide range of subjects allows students to explore a variety of career topics. With an above average staff, students are taught by some of the state's finest teachers. Not only do they work hard but they also care about "their kids." Through hard work and dedication, academic excellence can and has been achieved at Hammond High.

Sitting amongst many works of classic literature, Junior Tom Martin picks his favorite and spends some time to read it.

Science

Uh! How gross! What's that smell? I'm not going to touch it! Those are just a few of the questions and comments you hear when you enter the Science department at Hammond High, which is headed by Chemistry teacher Charles Sizemore, or as many of us know him, Uncle Chuck.

The Science department at Hammond High offers eight different courses to help complete the two year science requirement for graduation, starting with anything from Health and Safety to Biology to Chemistry to Physics.

Not many students go over the two year requirement for science because lack of interest. "To improve the science enrollment," said Biology teacher Miss Cynthia Warner, "we need to start getting more hands on experience."

Dazed about chemistry class, Christina Castallanos thinks about her after school plans.

Skills For A Lifetime

"Mathematics is very important in today's high tech society," says Hammond High School Math Dept. Chairperson Mr. Robert Urick. It has become increasingly important for people to have a high school education, and now math has become more useful in everyday life. More and more people are needed to fill jobs that require good math skills as well as the crucial thinking skills instilled while taking advanced math classes such as trigonometry and calculus.

Here at Hammond High math courses ranging from general math to advanced math and from algebra to pre-calculus are offered. All these courses are taught by intelligent teachers who are also fun and easy to get along with.

Mark Snorton argues a point about his math test to Mrs. Rybicki as classmate Kyle McGaha looks on.

Social Studies

The Hammond High Social Studies Department is one of much interest, ranging from U.S. history to economics. The Social Studies Department is headed by Mr. Steven Kucer who attended San Francisco University and has his Master's Degree in Education. Mr. Kucer is not the only teacher with great credibility. Every teacher has his Bachelor's and Master's Degree.

Social Studies may not seem like the most interesting subject, but if students take the time they may find out that the Hammond High Social Department is not only filled with interesting History and important Current Events, but also some of the most informative teachers.

Students show how much they love Economics by giving Mr. Kucer their full attention.

Foreign Language

The Foreign Language Department is headed by Mrs. Ulrich, who is also the French teacher. Mrs. Rapp and Miss Kula are the Spanish teachers and Mrs. Kostopoulos teaches German.

"Being bilingual is becoming increasingly important," said Mrs. Kostopoulos. The teachers stress the importance of knowing more than one language. It is also important for the students to understand the cultural background of the language they are studying.

Recently, videos have been sent to the Foreign Language Department to help explain more about the cultures. French 5-10, German 5-10, and Spanish 5-10 got together for a continental breakfast. This is one of the many ways the students present the knowledge of the different cultures and have fun doing it.

Kathy Hoff wonders if she should open her Spanish book or if she should use E.S.P. to grasp the understanding of irregular verbs.

Fine Arts

The fine arts department specializes in art, music, and band. The head of the fine arts department, Raymond Ball, teaches art along with Karen Bauman. They are trying a new approach this year with the use of textbooks.

Mary Hunt, the vocal music instructor, is developing a series of fun raisers for the music department. She teaches chorus, glee club, and concert choir.

Lastly of the three fine arts areas is band. This is taught by Van Bialon. The band is divided by three levels: introductory for beginners, cadet, and concert level for the advanced. These classes are electives and are not mandatory for college entrance.

Home Economics

Hammond High's Home Economics department is made up of the following areas of study: textile-cloth, Interpersonal Relationship, consumer education, family relation — family management, foods, and child development — human development.

The goal of the Home Economics department is to teach students how to deal with the decisions that they will have to face in the adult world. Students learn to be educated consumers and to relate with the people in our society.

In textile class students learn to sew and to make articles of clothing. They also learn how to cut and work with different types of fabrics.

Industrial Arts

The Industrial Arts department of Hammond High school is composed of two areas of study. The first, mechanical drawing, teaches students how to read blueprints and also how to draw their own prints. Another of the aims of the mechanical drawing is to teach the students work habits that will help them be competitive in the world of drafting employment. "I feel that I should not only teach the students the basics of mechanical drawing, but that I should also teach them to exhibit the good work habits that they will need in the real world," said Mr. Brown.

The second area of study in the Industrial Arts department is woods class. In woods class students learn to use different types of saws and carving tools to make different wood items. These projects range from the simplicity of a wooden paddle to the complexity of making wooden furniture.

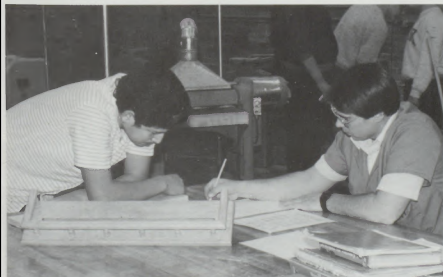

Mike Tidwell saws the wood he will use to make a picture frame.

Business

Want to be a Secretary, Business Manager, Accountant or even a Business Lawyer? Then you've come to the right place . . . Hammond High's Business Department.

The Business Department here at Hammond High offers a variety of classes that will help you a great deal if you plan to go into the business profession. Starting with classes such as typing with Mrs. McQuigg or Mr. Velligan or Business Law with Mr. Schiska.

This year Mrs. McQuigg the typing teacher, has started a new typing class that starts in the morning before school. This, she thinks will be a lot of help for a number of students.

Physical Ed.

What's everyone's favorite "required" class? If you guessed Physical Education or gym then your right.

Gym is a one year required class that most everyone loves. Students can play anything from volleyball and basketball to gymnastics and softball. One may even take a dip in the pool.

There's even an advanced gym class for students who want to take more than one year.

Our gym teachers also participate in after school activities and sports, such as Mr. Badovinich began his first year coaching Hammond High's girls basketball team. Mr. Zasada has coached the Varsity football team for 19 years.

Going up for an easy lay-up, Derrick Simpson smiles while Alton MaGee and Jerry Thomas look on in amazement.

English

This was a very significant year in the English Department because it was Mr. Karl Deaks first year as English Department Chairperson.

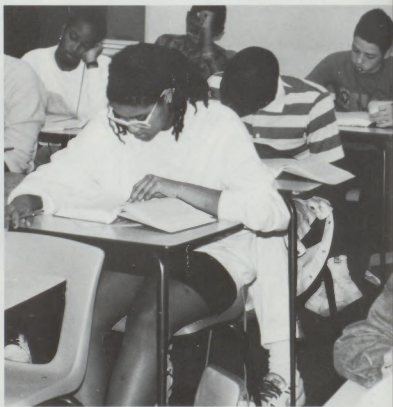

Mr. Deak, a teacher at Hammond High, for 29 years, will bring his leadership capabilities and experience to the position. This decides how the department is run and the new ideas that will come into play in the future.

Mr. Deak said that he does not plan to make any immediate changes in his first year because he would like to get the feel of how the department is run and see what changes can be made in the future. He also added that new ideas for the future are being considered, such as a program similar to the Math Departments A.I.M. program.

Sports

Clubs and organizations do not fulfill everyone's needs. Sometimes, one has an instantaneous desire to be active; to be involved in a sport.

Often, this desire to excel athletically can be fulfilled by the many challenging sports offered here at H.H.S. Whether you're a girl or a boy the excitement of competition can be obtained. The thrill of victory can bring self satisfaction and the agony of defeat can give more determination to the best.

Getting ready for a spike, making a tackle, or running cross country are just a few of the activities that the athletes partake in while playing a sport.

Sophomore, Shelley Lakatos, eyes the ball as she approaches the net for the slam. Many students took the time to join sports for exercise and enjoyment.

The Young And Restless

The 1988 boys and girls cross country team started off ready to capture every first place position that came in their running path. Since the team is so young they were not able to live up to all their goals. Unlike the past years this has been one of the largest and most vibrant teams.

Number one runner Alan Harshbarger said, "We have a lot to look forward to since the team is so young." The runners everyone should keep an eye out for are William Williams, Danny Farmer, Augustine Ayon and Steve Polley.

Wednesday Harper, Hammond High's number one girls runner, came in 3rd place out of 150 girls in an open race at T.F. South High School. Tiffany Melton, our most experienced runner, managed to keep up team morale and self dignity. Our freshmen runners, Tami Burns, Naomi Sims and Anita Nieto ran in stride to insure a place in sectionals. The girls coach, Miss Long, said, "The future girls cross country team will grow with every year and will be better due to new and fresh talent."

Wednesday Harper stretches before an important meet, with thoughts of coming in first.

Serving Their Way To Success

The boys tennis team set one goal for themselves in the 1988-1989 season, that goal was a successful season in conference. Although the conference championship eluded them, they still held on for a strong second place.

The team had many highlights in the season. Idi Alvarez and Matthew March placed second in the area's biggest invitational in Highland. They knocked out three teams including a team from the number ninth ranked team in the state, before finally losing in the finals. Other highlights were victories over conference rivals Clark and Gavitt.

In the Lake Shore Conference tournament Idi Alvarez and Mike Boudreau placed second in the number one doubles position. John Meissler and Jim Robinson also placed second at number 2 doubles.

Senior Matthew March, the number one singles player for his four years at Hammond High, finished his high school career in a very strong fashion. March won the conference title at number 1 singles and also had a very strong state tournament. Matt won the sectional singles championship and went on to beat players from Hobart and Griffith to advance to the regional finals. In the finals, Matt met his biggest high school rival from Munster. Though, Matt lost in a close three set match at Highland High School, a large Hammond High crowd cheered him onto a successful ending of his high school tennis career.

Spiking Their Way To The Top

By overcoming the obstacle of inexperience, the 1988 girls volleyball team had a considerably better record than last year. The elements of determination and mental capability enabled the lady cats to work harder and increase their overall record.

In a tri-meet tournament, Hammond High beat Roosevelt, the favored team from Gary, and Griffith, becoming the spoilers of that tournament.

Through the efforts of Coach Sharon Meier and Coach Marie Herring, to improve individual and team ability, they awarded a Player of the Week (POW) award. To the member of the team, who performed extremely well at practice as well as in games.

In the first match of the J.V. Tournament, our Lady Cats played the host Morton. Even though the Lady Cats were defeated. A great effort was put forth.

In the second game of sectionals our varsity Wildcats faced Clark. Though they played their best they fell short, still having a very successful season.

Senior Anne Cox serves the ball with all her might to give the Cats a lead in a game against Morton in which our Cats won.

Cats Beat Odds

Can a fish swim without water? This was the question facing the Hammond High School's girls swim team. From the beginning, the swim team was headed for muddy waters. The girls went through a lot of setbacks, the only chance the young team had to practice in their own pool was the first four weeks. Hammond High's pool broke down, which left the lady swimmers with a question, "Will we survive the season without a pool?" The HHS team resorted to the pool at Eggars Middle School but right when they thought the water was safe and clear, the pool broke down.

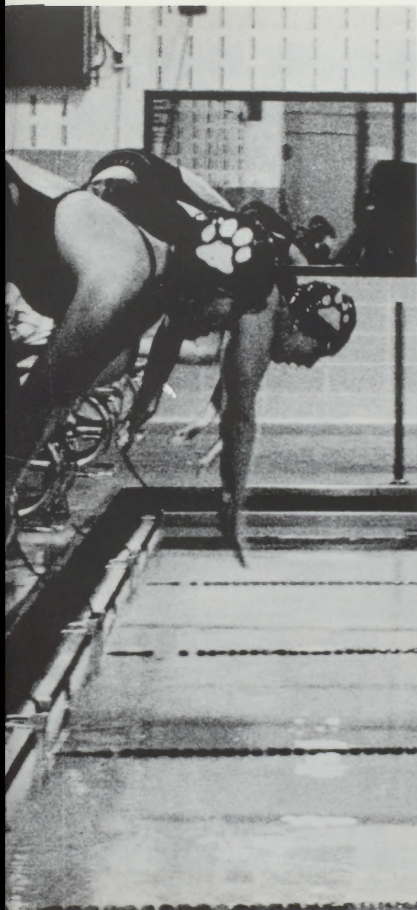

It seemed as though the Wildcats were destined to come out with the short end of the stick. Whenever there was a home meet the meet had to be switched to the opposing team's pool, so the Cats never had the so called "home field advantage." Regardless of the team's record, the girls did learn one thing. Team work will always come out ahead of a divided team.

Trisha Buck said, "We have a young team, but next year we will be better prepared mentally and physically to face our opposing teams and any obstacles so watch out for us next year."

Trisha Buck and Stephanie Spisak think intensely about the meet while pushing off the starting blocks.

Carrie Lentz goes for the win while doing the back stroke.

Hard Work Pays Off For The Cats

It's said that hard work always pays off. In the case of the '88 Wildcat Gridiron Squad, this could not be more true. Micheal Allen, the Wildcat runningback, ate up over a thousand yards and over 264 points. Pat Long had an outstanding year. He threw for scored over 1600 yards to receivers like Rodney Dennis, Mike Rosenband, Teon Burks, and Greg Bochenek. One thing we can't leave out is the Purple People Blockers. The offensive line did a great job so

Pat Long could throw and Omar Martin and Michael Allen could run.

The Wildcat defense, otherwise known as Controlled Violence, was extremely tough. Led by players like Greg Bochenek, Jesse Cobb and Jonas Smith, they intimidated teams like there was no tomorrow.

Going into the playoffs, the Wildcats were ranked third in the state. The first team they played in sectionals was Lowell who the 'Cats dominated most of the game.

Then the 'Cats established bragging rights for the city of Hammond by murdering Morton 30-00. Then the 'Cats took on a pesky Griffith team which the Wildcats simply swept aside. Hobart, then the king of region football and also defending state champs, was knocked off by our Wildcat team. The King is DEAD!!

Wildcats Cause Uproar

This years Freshman Football team put forth a magnificent amount of effort. "All the hard work and effort is worth it to win conference," says freshman player Carlos Cruz. This season was truly a winning one, with a 4-0 conference record, there hasn't been a freshman team this strong in years. It's always hard to win when you're considered the baby team, but this year it has proven to give the team just the right amount of momentum to take them where they wanted to go, the top. This years' team kept its spirit up with the help of the fans, the parents, the varsity players and the cheerleaders. This is truly an unbeatable combination of dedicated players and supportive fans. This team displayed a great deal of sportsmanship, accepting the wins as well as the loses, with little or no rebuttal.

Big or small it didn't matter. Only that they had fun winning.

Know Us First

“People should look beyond the uniform to get to know us before they stereo-type us,” says varsity cheerleader Laura Wozniak. Most cheerleaders are stereo-typed as a bunch of dippy airheads with only a pretty face going for them, but in fact 90% of our cheerleaders have shown to disprove this belief by ranking in the top 20% of their class and two of our varsity cheerleaders are ranked number one in their class.

When varsity cheerleader Shelley Sledge stated, “I love to be the one to fire up the crowd, . . . and when they get involved, it makes me feel like I’ve accomplished something,” it was evident that they not only invite the crowd to join in with the cheering but enjoy expressing their pride in our Wildcats.

The cheerleaders promote school spirit by selling H.H.S. pins, homecoming flowers and ribbons, to raise money for new uniforms and materials to decorate the locker room.

Peppy Poms

"I feel I've become more school spirited since joining Pom Kats," says T. Campbell who is captain of the squad.

Pom Kats can be seen many times throughout the school year; at pep assemblies, home football games and basketball games.

"Routines are very hard to make up," says N. Broz. Routines are made up by committees. There are six committees and three people on each committee. The committees pick the routines, songs, and outfits that will be worn when they perform.

During the summer, the girls showed off their baking abilities in a Bake Sale held during summer school to help raise funds for future needs.

Ms. De Young, who has been the Pom Kat's sponsor for the past three years, says, "I'm looking forward to more people trying out and I hope to see a larger squad."

Learning How To Win

If you ask the girl's basketball coach, Rick Badovanich, what he thinks the outlook for the girl's basketball team's future is, you will hear nothing negative. Coach Badovanich has brought a new attitude to the team, and what seems to be a very special relationship between the players and coach.

Coach Badovanich says to turnaround Hammond High's program, whose varsity team had not won a game since 1986, is because of patience and having players who care. According to Badovanich the reason the Lady Wildcats have made such a sudden turnaround was because of the excellent attitude of the team.

The Lady Wildcats only won two games this season, but gave Wildcat fans alot of hope for the future due to large amount of underclassmen on the team. The Wildcats won games against Gavitt; Gary Wirt played tough in their loss in sectionals.

Coach Badovanich says "The biggest thing we need to learn is how to takeover a close game in the final two minutes, we have learned how to win." There is no doubt that the Wildcats have a bright future and will be a force to be reckoned with in the future.

Taking It All

The Boys Basketball team set many goals for themselves this season and the biggest one was to capture the conference championship. When the Wildcats went into Bishop Noll, they knew that this game would decide who took the conference championship crown home. The Wildcats played their best game of the year and took control of the conference in front of a hostile Noll crowd. The Wildcats finished the season with a 14-8 record. Seniors Rodney Dennis and David Hall led the team in scoring with a 20.5 and an 18.4 point average per game respectively. Another senior Terrill Burks led the team in rebounding.

The team finished their up and down season by getting to the finals of the sectional before finally being up-ended by a strong Andean team.

Sophomore, Alan Harshbarger, shows his rival that wrestling may be an uplifting experience.

Wrestle Mania Wildcat Style

“We’ve had a triumphant season, and accomplished the goals that were set” — Coach Deak.

Those goals were most definitely met when the varsity wildcat wrestlers went undefeated in dual matches, defended the Conference Title for the fourth year, defended the Sectional Title for the third year, and finished second in the Regional Tournament. The J.V. wrestlers also met their goals when they defended the Reserve Conference Title for the third year.

The determined coaches, Mr. Deak and Mr. Jackson, started from scratch with a fairly young, individual team, but with hours of work and sweat, they transformed the individuals into a fighting unit that was tough to beat.

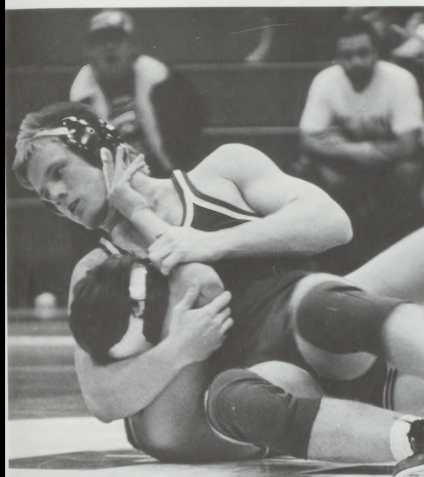

The season, in a whole, was training for the most important four weeks. The four weeks for the Sectional, Regional, Semi-State, and State Tournaments.

The team won the Sectional trophy and sent 11 wrestlers to Regionals. After the Regional battle, the team took second and four wildcats were victorious and on their way to Semi-State; Sean Deak, Omar Martin, Pat Long and John Mudd. After Semi-State, Omar Martin and Pat Long were going to Indianapolis and the State Tournament.

With a hurt knee, Pat Long tried his best in the tournament, yet was beaten in his attempt for the title. In the final awards ceremony, Omar Martin stood above all the rest in his 152 pound weight class and was given the first place medal in Indianapolis; the first state champion from Hammond High in over 20 years.

Wildcat Swimmers Labeled Overachievers

Our mighty Wildcat swimmers smoked up the lanes over this past season. Leading the way were senior Bill Pote and junior Mike Sowards. According to senior captain Bill Pote, "You can't build a strong program without underclassmen. This year that underclassmen spark was Santiago Gomez." Although the team compiled a 3-12 record and an 11th place in sectionals, they finished strong with a 4th place in conference.

At sectionals Mike Sowards and Bill Pote advanced to the consolation finals. Mike Sowards captured a 10th place in 200 yard individual medley while Bill Pote captured a 10th place in the 200 freestyle and a 12th place finish in the 500 freestyle. Mike Sowards captured a 6th place in the 100 yard backstroke in the finals.

Gone With The Wind

What's faster than a speeding bullet? What has more strength than Hercules? What jumps higher than the average height of man "5'10" "? If you guessed Hammond High's boys track team then you're right. This year with new and returning members the boys track team got their season off on the right "track" by "running" away with the ILSC Indoor and Outdoor Track Championship. With continued success throughout the season, several players made The Times track Honor Roll such as, Keith Adams, Charles Hackett, and the 1600 relay team which consisted of, Rodney Dennis, Jonas Smith, Darien Norwood and Kelechi Nwabuko. Coming in 2nd at sectionals the boys were ready to capture every 1st place ribbon there was; unfortunately only one runner qualified and that was MVP Keith Adams.

The girls track team followed in the same "running" steps as the boys, sending three girls to regionals, Reshanda Richardson, Twila Fultz, and Wednesday Harper. The girls didn't qualify for state but plan to be back next year for another try.

Wildcat Pride

In spite of scoring 159 runs, this year, our softball team still came up short. But despite the losing season, the girls still went out on the field working hard and giving it all they had.

Entering sectionals, the girls had a record of 5 wins and 10 losses. The team lost to Whiting with a score of 6 to 3.

"I wish they'd play every game like the sectional game."

Coach Schneider

Coaching the team were Mr. Serafin and Mr. Schneider. Captain of the team was Kathleen Orr. There were 7 juniors, 3 sophomores, and 4 freshmen on the team.

The girls practiced every day, rain or shine. Despite the losing season, the girls showed loyalty to the team and never gave up. They showed they had true Wildcat Pride.

Bat Boys Struggle but Strike Out

The boys Varsity Baseball had a season of highs and lows. It got off to a good start by winning 4 out of 5 pre-season games, with victories over Merrillville, River Forest, Calumet, and Lake Central.

When it came around to conference the Wildcats got off to a sizzling start by shutting out Whiting with a score of 2 to 0. From there it was all down hill.

The Wildcats reached a season low by losing seven straight games.

After losing the seventh straight game the Wildcats came together to win the next two games.

One of the wins was a season high for the Wildcats by beating number 3 ranked Morton by a score of 6 to 5.

When the regular season was finally over, the Wildcats were ready for a fresh start in the sectionals. Coach Malis was determined to get our Wildcats ready for a sectional play.

The game was to be played on Memorial Day against Conference Champions Bishop Noll. Due to rain the game was cancelled. It was played the following day at 1:00.

Giving it all they had, our Wildcats came up short and knew the season was at an end. All the hard work of the season paid off when five of our Wildcats were selected for the All-Conference Team.

Proving Rumors Wrong

The 1989 Varsity Soccer team was fed up with the reputation they were given. They were ready to prove Hammond High was again superior and not as people talked.

With a new assistant coach and a born again coach, the Wildcat soccer team proved to be, once again, dominating.

The Wildcats were already proving themselves by beating Munster, who had become a rival of the past.

In the conference, it looked as if the Wildcats were going to take the crown. It came down to one game. Not just any game though, it was against conference rivals, Morton.

Playing their best, the Wildcats just didn't have what it took to be conference champs. Coming in second wasn't bad, but then came sectionals and the Wildcats were to play Bishop Noll.

Already beating Noll once in the regular season, the Wildcats were ready to face the Warriors once again. The game began and the Wildcats were in control, but the Warriors came back. The game went into overtime. At the end it was still 1 to 1. With two minutes left in double overtime, Bishop Noll scored the final goal of the game and left our Wildcats with a grueling loss.

Not On The Ball

Starting with a fresh batch of players, Coach Kitchell had a tough time gearing up the lady wildcats for the 1989 season. Coach Kitchell relied on her two returning players to carry the weight of the team, but the strain was too much on too few. A combination of lacking loyalty, endurance and skill with nonenthusiastic players resulted in a nonwinning season.

The underclassmen could be good prospects for the year to come, but the team needs more than just players.

The team in a whole came in second in Sectionals and fourth in conference.

Aggressively playing the net, Junior Kristen Ball, doesn't let the ball go pass her.

Skipping across the court, Senior Jodi Smith, carefully places the ball over the net where she wants it.

Up To Par

If you looked at the Boys Golf team's past you would find it very bleak. This year's team ignored the past and went on to have one of the strongest teams in Hammond High's history.

There are many reasons for this year's turnaround. The boys were up every morning before school practicing for the upcoming season, and working on the basics with Coach Badovanich. Going into the season, the Wildcats had a lot of confidence and were ready to make their move.

The victorious conference season started with a thirty-stroke victory over Gavit, who they had not beaten in fifteen years. The Wildcats then went on to win an unprecedented five conference matches in a row. The Wildcats went on to place second in conference only being upended by a very narrow margin in their second match up of the year.

The team was led by Tim Zasada, Matt March, Eric Hafner, Bill Maar and Joe Belmont. Tim Zasada was selected all-conference and Coach Badovanich was selected Coach of the year. The Hammond Golfers are no doubt on their way to being a force to be reckoned with.

People

The people here at Hammond High consist of many different types. We have the Freshmen, who are totally new to the school; not knowing where to go or what to do, to the seniors who can hardly wait to hear that commencement song playing on graduation day. But if it weren't for these many types of people, school would be a dull and boring place.

School is supposed to be fun and interesting, and without the many different nationalities and backgrounds here, one would never have the chance to meet and learn about the different people.

People are the main ingredient in any fine institution and Hammond High is the one place where all kinds of nationalities and background are represented and here to be met.

Students show how to have fun without drugs or alcohol at Snowball '88. This year 15 students and two teachers from Hammond High attended Snowball at Hanover Central High School.

Freshmen

The class of 1992 entered Hammond High with a new outlook on school. They were now high school students, but just not any kinds of high school students they were Freshmen; that dreaded word Freshmen. Everyone dreads being a Freshman not knowing where to go, not knowing anyone.

Freshmen are always on the outcast; if someone does something wrong it must be a Freshman.

As an incoming Freshman you have many new experiences open to you. This is the time when Freshmen have to choose which road they are going to pursue, the mentally challenging academic road or the strenuous sports pathway. Freshmen have many other new experiences open to them such as new people and new clubs.

All in all your Freshman year can be the most challenging and important of your four years. If you don't get caught up in the stereotype of the "typical" freshman you may find your Freshman year challenging and rewarding.

Excuses, Complaints and Results

I forgot my homework in my locker," "My teacher said I could go," "I know you've stopped me over a hundred times but this time it really is an emergency," "This alien was in the bathroom and he put a freezing spell on me."

This year Hammond High has added a new species to its school. I'm sure everyone has run into one of them at least once. Their names are: Cherri Brambert, Actress Bartlett, Margaret Zuklin, Wayman McClendon and Susie Morris, and their jobs are to monitor the hallways. A few of the specifics are: scouting the girls out of the bathroom and into class, making sure there is no smoking in the boys' room, and watching the exits for prospective ditchers.

Hall monitor, Margaret Zuklin, tells us of her experience with two students third hour, "I stopped them to sign my sheet, but instead of signing their names they signed 'Hochiemien and Adolf Hitler'."

Although sometimes taken lightly, the hall monitors have been able to decrease traffic in the halls.

"A kid just vomited in the hallway," "My room is freezing can you please turn up the heat," "My locker is jammed," "There is a funny odor in here. Can you please check it out?," "The toilet is overflowing in the girls' washroom on the second floor."

With all this how does a person keep his sanity? We ask Head Janitor, Jim Andrews, "I don't let it worry me, we just do the best we can. I usually direct most of the complaints to Wally and I get all the compliments."

But their jobs don't end there, janitors, Jim Andrews, Ray McCarty, Lois Hassel, Shirley Patrick, Wally Jankowski, work year round not just during the school year. In the summer, they give the building an extra clean sweep. They keep up the lawns and the school grounds. They mow the sport fields and paint the lines for the pending football season.

"But really — I get free lunch all the time, they just forget to put my name on the list sometimes," "My hamburger is cold," "How come he has more fries than I do?," "Why is my jello crawling off my plate?," "There aren't any napkins," "Have you ever heard of The Pure Food and Drug Act?"

What eats eight hundred and ten pounds of fries, five hundred and twenty hamburgers and cheeseburgers, four hundred and thirty-six pieces of pizza, and drinks sixteen hundred pints of milk a day? Yep the Hammond High Wildcats.

The cafeteria workers start early in the morning to prepare food for the hungry Wildcats. Cafeteria manager, Maxine Roberts, tells of the preparation required, "Well I get here at five forty-five a.m., my cook comes at six forty-five, and people arrive from there on. Everyone is assigned to her specific job — from making bread to boiling hotdogs. We don't get to leave until about one fifteen p.m."

This year's sophomore class has contributed a lot to Hammond High, such as good football and basketball players, and a lot of spirited Wildcats.

This class has proved their spirit and talent when they won the "best float" contest.

Under the leadership of Ms. Parkhurst and Mrs. Thomas the sophomore class has held various fund raisers like selling jewelry in order to give the class of 1990 a very beautiful prom.

The officers of the sophomore class are president — Michelle Davis; vice-president — Roberta Jones; and secretary — Donita Wallace.

What's wacky, wild, hyper, hip, has 172 heads and 344 hands? Give up? It's the 1989 junior class. This class has been preceded by some of the best, but it will surely be a hard act to follow in years to come.

This class is full of spunk, charisma, spirit, and charm. The junior class, not unlike those of the past, started out as freshmen with two groups; those who were considered naive (weren't we all), and those who thought they knew it all. As sophomores, everyone began to feel a little more secure as to their place in HHS. The social class separation inflicted as freshmen was now slowly being lifted. As juniors, they have for the most part, proved that they have molded themselves into a class of unity, personality, and respectability; a class to have pride in.

This year has been a busy one for the junior class. Trying to make up for all the time they slacked off their freshman and sophomore years. Trying to get all they can out of the remainder of their high school career; preparing for SAT's, checking out different colleges, taking the ISTEP tests, and preparing the 1989 prom. It's a tough job, but someone's got to do it, and no one's more capable than the Junior Class of '89.

The junior class officers are Jean Casmir, president; Yolanda Weems, vice-president; Danita Adkins, secretary; and Michael Sowards, treasurer.

Seniors

The last year of high school is an awakening experience for many seniors, realizing the actual responsibilities that come with that final year. Senior, Amy Kosola puts it into perspective, "Senior year is supposed to be the best, but it is more complicated than it appears. Dealing with college acceptance and answering 'What are you going to do with your life?' over and over, eventually drives you over the edge."

"Senioritis" is a lack of interest in school by the student body. Senior class president, Michael Rosenband, "There is definitely no cure for senioritis — but as long as you keep your priorities in proper order (by doing some work) you can have plenty of fun your senior year."

Besides a lack of interest in studies, the seniors also lacked interest in a senior trip. The first attempt was to go on a cruise to Mexico.

Failing, senior sponsors, Sandra McQuigg and Lynn Kostopoulos, decided on Florida which also had no luck.

No interest in a vacation does not necessarily mean that the class of 1989 has lost its spirit. For this year's homecoming the seniors showed their wildcat pride by putting their best effort forward and winning the hall competition. Senior, Tom Moore, comments, "Despite not having a Homecoming Dance, I had alot of fun going to the bon fire and the parade. But I feel this homecoming was super special because it was my last one."

After the diplomas are received and the tears are shed, each will go on to do their best in whatever they choose.

Paw Power

Behind every school there is a great administration and Hammond High School is no exception. We have some of the finest administrators in the state, but there could not be such great people leading our school without a great School Board, who make sure our school and city are up to standard.

Here at Hammond High we have three great men to lead our school; they are Mr. Cassel White — principal, Mr. John Molnar — assistant principal, and Mr. Lee Brown — assistant principal, and behind every great man there is a great woman, but in the case of H.H.S. it is three great women. The secretaries of Hammond High Mrs. JoAnne O'Rourke, Mrs. Carole Pacosky, and Mrs. Angie Nieves. We also have some very fine counselors, who will help you any time if you have a problem, or just need some advice on colleges, and if you're ever sick our school nurse Mrs. Nancy Parker, R.N. who will help you in any way possible.

Mr. Lee Brown our new assistant principal is originally from Marion, Indiana, where he taught Social Studies for 16 years. This is his first administrative job; he is continuing his education this summer to receive his doctorate in education.

Now you've seen our PAWS IN POWER and you know why our school is so great.

O rganizations

When looking for something to do, one may always find a meeting of some kind going on after school.

Our organizations range from S.L.I.P. to Mat Maids. Whatever the activity, one may find that they are very time consuming and take a lot of hard work. Without the dedicated teachers who devote their extra time for activities such as these, our organizations would cease.

Also having sufficient fundings is a major goal of any organization. The organizations here at Hammond High have come up with some very unique fund raisers such as: the Service Club selling carnations for Valentine's Day, and S.A.D.D. sponsoring a lip-sync contest. Fund raisers are not only a great way to make money, but they also give the organizations some great memories of the fun times spent working to reach whatever goals they have set for themselves.

Play It Again, Band

"And now introducing the Hammond High School Marching Band." Those are just some of the words one might hear when our band is being introduced before the start of a football game.

The band performs at every home football game and basketball game. The concert band can be seen at other times throughout the year, at pep assemblies, the Christmas concert and the Spring concert. They also play at the induction of the National Honor Society members.

They are also very school spirited. During Homecoming week, they played at the bonfire and also marched in the parade.

The band is under the direction of Mr. Bailon. He has been teaching band for 5 years here at Hammond High.

While practicing, Dan Berry tries to improve his beat.

The choir performs for numerous events such as Christmas, Honors Day, Black History, and Graduation.

This year members of the choir performed in the Indiana State School Music Association District Contest held at Morton High School. Students receiving honors were 3rd place Anita Nieto, 2nd place Lauren Vega, Tiffany Hicks, Margaret Hack, India Morris, and Carolyn Lentz. Jesse Rodriguez received a first place and will be going to the state competition in South Pont, Indiana.

Herald Staff Takes Two

This year's Herald consisted of two different staffs. The first semester staff had 8 members and was headed by Mr. Schnieder and edited by Julie Snow.

Mr. Schneider said that the lack of experience was a major cause to the few publications that were put out.

The second staff consists of, Chief-in-Editor Julie Snow, Dan Berry, Terry Dixon, Todd Dornick, Jorge Foueroa, Aimee Kinney, Jheri LeDuc, Colleen Logan, and Stephanie Maginot. They have a new computer program to help the inexperienced staffers to understand how to do the layout of the newspaper.

"In the future we hope to see more staff members who are willing to work hard at putting out the facts," said staff member Donita Wallace.

The Ups And Downs Of Dunes

This year's Dunes' staff wasn't average. No, this one was made up of different personalities, which makes for a very unique book.

Sure, there were times when because of a thing called deadlines (a word that sends shivers down any staff member's spine) the heat was on and the pressure was hard, but for the most part this year was full of fun.

This year's Dunes was made up of mostly newcomers with only 5 returning veteran staff members. This could of posed problems for some people but not for our 89 staff. They pulled together and produced a great book.

Despite all the hard work and all the near nervous breakdowns those troopers have endured; they've enjoyed producing the 1989 yearbook.

After telling the editor a dog ate his layout, Matthew March snickers, "And she believed me!"

Scott Ryan rushes to complete his "master piece" before anyone realized he's not really writing a story.

The Dunes' staff, working hard to beat the deadline, gives it their all.

The True Zoo Crew

That's the scariest part of high school life? You guessed it, the dreaded thought of standing among your peers and telling them about things they have absolutely no interests in speeches.

Well, at HHS there are a select few who have proven to have the guts to obtain the glory. Yes this is an elite crew. At the head of the mast, this mighty crew is led by Mrs. Emanda Jones and Mr. Fred Monberg. These are truly brave adventures venturing where no man has gone before.

This year's speech and debate team was one H.H.S. should be proud of. This team was made up of imaginative, ambitious, and hard-working students. But like the saying goes "All work and no play makes H.H.S. speech and debate team a dull one." This team always found some way to amuse themselves, whether they were in the class practicing humorous interpretation or patiently awaiting to give their next drama speech, but when it came down to the actual competition, this team was definitely serious about winning and they have numerous ribbons and awards to prove it.

Top Row: A. Wingfield, M. Gardner, D. Mudd, S. Summers, G. Beshears. 2nd Row: S. Wess, W. Evans, J. Lentz, J. Gore. 3rd Row: S. Hartley, G. Nallet, B. Bowen, K. Butler, M. Rivera. 4th Row: L. Tamara Edmond and Andre Robertson laugh hysterically with disbelief, after Mrs. Jones informs them that they'll be working together in duo.

HHS speech student stands grinning as the rest of the class researches for their speeches.

One of the many methods of releasing tension before delivering a speech is yoga, as demonstrated here by Kristi Butler.

As Jeff Mombert smiles with victory and Richard Brambert sighs with defeat, Steven Moore thinks, "I'd really rather be someplace else."

Service Club members show their pride by carrying the group banner in the homecoming parade.

Helping Out

The Service Club is an organization that helps serve Hammond High. They conduct many service projects that help H.H.S. Some of these projects include a spring blood drive, collecting money to create the Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets for the needy. They also conduct school tours for individuals coming in to see our school and serve refreshments for these tours. Amatul Kasi serves as president, Crista Bradley as vice president, Elisa Aguilar as secretary, Tracie Muniz as treasurer, the money they use are from their monthly dues, fund-raising projects, and other donations. They also work the concession stands for both football and basketball games.

Working on the H.E.R.O. program, Senior, Dawn Iles, retrieves a piece of clothing for an awaiting customer.

Get a Job

"Is it just another way to get out of school early?" Well, this is what most students probably think, but the truth is that H.E.R.O. and C.O.E. is a senior course that helps the students to develop a positive attitude towards part-time employment.

H.E.R.O. is short for Home Economics Related Occupations and C.O.E. stands for Cooperative Office Education. They are both Interdisciplinary Cooperative Education courses.

The classes have a total of 23 students and it is held third hour. The H.E.R.O. program is instructed by Mrs. Thomas and C.O.E. is instructed by Mr. Velligan.

Maid Service

Behind every good man there is a good woman. That is also true for the wild-cat wrestlers. Instead of women they have the mat maids.

These girls are hardworking, and very dedicated. If it was either helping Mr. Deak after school at practices or getting up early Saturday morning, the wrestlers always counted on the girls to be there. They always were.

While helping Mr. Deak, who is in charge of the girls and wrestlers, the girls are learning how to understand the sport.

The mat maids have helped the team and also encouraged our wrestlers by showing their support.

Taking Down The Stats

This year's Stat Cats consisted of four girls: Endyla Jones, Samara Lewis, Reshaunda Richardson, and Yolanda Weems.

These four girls attended the basketball games and helped Coach Harwell keep track of how the boys were doing during the games.

Besides attending the games and showing how much school spirit they have they were also learning and getting a better understanding of the game.

These girls are proud of our basketball players and behind our "Hoopers" all the way.

Wildcat Government

This year's Student Government, under the leadership of Mr. Markovich had plans to make the 1988-89 school year better than before.

The government consisted of Shelley Sledge; President, Jodi Smith; Vice-President, Dawn Iles; Secretary, and Rob Musgraves; as Treasurer.

They scheduled a Winter Formal for December 21, at the Holiday Star. The dance had to be cancelled because of lack of interest by our students.

Just because the dance was cancelled did not stop our student government. They went ahead and rescheduled it for mid February. Nothing was going to stop our "Wildcat" government.

They also showed their school spirit by selling hats and horns during homecoming week.

We should really be proud of our student government because of their dedication. They have what it takes.

Recognizing True Scholars

The National Honor Society held its induction ceremony on April 27, 1989. There were a total of 22 new inductees.

The evening started with the explanation of Leadership, given by Michael Rosenband, Scholarship, given by Albert Kovera, Service, given by Bill Pote, and Dan Fragoso gave the speech on Character, the four major necessities needed to qualify for the National Honor Society.

After the new and old inductees took their oath, Mr. Molnar and Mr. Brown recognized freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors, for their excellence in academics and perfect attendance.

The evening came to a close with a reception sponsored by the Booster Club for the Students and parents. This gave students the chance to congratulate each other and for teachers to meet students' parents.

Heather Newton and Amatul Kazi swear in front of the N.H.S. and their parents, that they won't party too much while in class.

Albert Kovera takes time to speak to parents and fellow students on Scholarship; one of the qualities needed to make National Honor Society.

Don't Drive Drunk

Under the leadership of Mrs. Emanda Jones, the organization, Students Against Driving Drunk, has taught many students the dangers of driving while under the influence of alcohol. At the beginning of the school year, each member had to sign a statement saying that they promised not to drive while drinking.

S.A.D.D. has held various fundraisers in order to raise money. They held a Lip Sync contest which was a big success. First place went to Tom Moore and John Meissler who won $100. Second place went to Shaunta Ware, Ellen Williams, Donita Adkins, and Reshaunda Richardson. Third place went to Jim Choss, Tumara Campbell, Jennifer Garcia, and Christina Castellanos.

S.A.D.D. holds their meetings one Tuesday and one Thursday of each month. Their meetings deal with how to get the message across of the dangers of driving while drinking alcoholic beverages.

In A Class Of Their Own

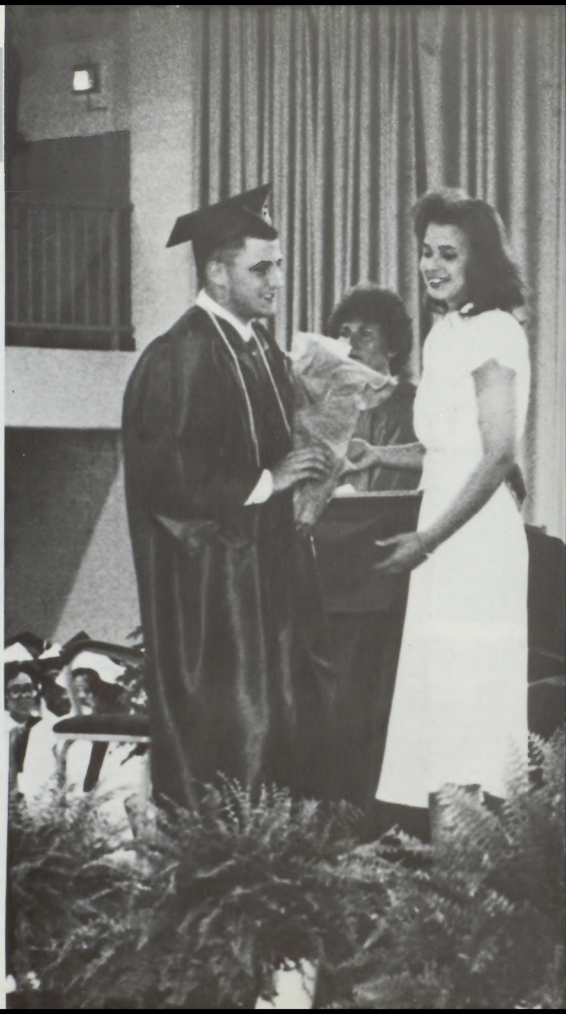

Under the leadership of Mr. Galosich and Mr. Maka the Wildcat Academic Team has competed in various school subjects in several competitions. They have competed in the Spell Bowl in which the team came in 3rd, the Decathlon in which they came in 16th and the Hoosier Bowl in which they came in 3rd all around, 1st in Social Studies and 2nd in English. Other subjects they have competed in are Language Arts, Math, and Science. The W.A.T. team studies any subjects that the competition requires them to.

Mr. Galosich makes up sample tests that cover the materials, that the team members need to learn. After the tests, they keep reviewing and reviewing the material so they will not forget what they have already learned.

The W.A.T. team meets as a class during 7th hour in which the members receive an Honors Class Credit. Sometimes after school studying hours are necessary, Mr. Maka and Mr. Galosich open their houses for all 18 members to study in the evening. Of the 18 members of the team, there are six seniors, eight juniors, and four sophomores. Mr. Galosich says, "As long as you are willing to study and work hard, anyone is welcome to join."

With a smile of acceptance, Tim Martin receives his white carnation from Jean Casmir at the Senior Honors Day program. All senior members of the National Honor Society were given the same award of achievement.

Special Events

Butterflies, nervousness, suits, ties, dresses; what do all of these things have in common? They're all part of special events.

Whether you're making a speech at one of these events or if you're just a person who sits on stage for the entire program, a certain feeling envelopes.

Take prom, for example. Each girl must worry about her appearance when her date arrives, and, even more so, when they arrive together at the prom, because all eyes will be on them.

And, of course, there is the National Honor Society induction; when each student must walk across the stage that now looks 200 feet long, and then attempt to walk down and up a flight of stairs to greet their parents with a flower, in front of an auditorium full of parents, teachers, and fellow students.

But in the end, these events are ones to look back on, and ones to treasure because they are indeed, special.

Senior Dan Fragozo lights the candle that represents character in the National Honor Society. He then gave a speech on how to achieve good character.

Reservations Confirmed

To be or not to be was the question for this year's formal.

The original date was for Friday, December 18, 1988, but after a lack of interest was shown, the dance was postponed. The new date was rescheduled for February 11, 1989, and a minimum of 50 couples were needed to have the Winter Formal at the Holiday Star Resort. Fifty-three couples bought tickets, and plans for what to wear, who to sit with, and what to do afterwards were in progress.

As couples walked in, the mood was being set for a night to remember. Couples exchanged compliments while waiting in line for pictures to be taken.

After dinner by candlelight, couples were ready to dance the night away.

The music ranged from a variety of fast beat songs to slow, romantic songs, that couples slowly swayed to.

After dancing, the night was slowly coming to an end. As everyone exchanged hugs and said their good-byes, the couples started to leave.

Soon everyone had left and many dreams had been fulfilled and memories were formed that will never be forgotten.

Jose Alvarez, Josefina Palacios and Juan Ayon prepare to eat the delicious chicken and beef dinner served to them.

Lisa Austin attempts to pin the boutonniere on her escort before they get in line to take their pictures.

Junior Chris Alexander treats his date, Laura Basadula, like a princess when he feeds her a bite of his dinner roll.

As the music fills the air, the formal goes down to the latest beat.

As John Mudd sings the lyrics to his girlfriend, Jamie Valousky, alumni Andy Gardner sways to the sound of his voice.

Seniors March On

"Help me pin my cap on" Words of the proud seniors as they were getting ready to march into the gym for the Honors Day Program.

On May 24, 1989, the graduating seniors were led into the gym by Valedictorian Shelley Sledge and Salutatorian Albert Kovera for the annual Honors Day Program. The program was held during 2nd and 3rd periods.

A variety of awards were given to the different seniors.

The awards ranged from being an active member of S.A.D.D. to being named Valedictorian. Athletes and scholars were also recognized for their achievements in different areas.

National Honor Society members received a single white carnation. Certificates were passed out for achievements in different school subjects. $50 bonds were given to winners of the Presidential Academic Fitness Award.

Valedictorian, Shelley Sledge and Salutatorian, Albert Kovera lead their fellow 1989 classmates in the exit march on Senior Honors Day.

Looking over their programs for the assembly, the class of 1989 patiently awaits the next presentation of awards.

Tammy Berry makes her way back to her seat after receiving her National Honor Society flower.

Let's Check It Out.

Once again another year has passed. We can all look forward to summer vacation, and for some our future. Before we go, we should take time out to review last year. Let's take one more look at what was hot in the fashion world, what's what in the news, the best in sports. Don't forget about the latest musicians, and for those of you who are avid movie goers, there's a list of the top movies in the 1988-89 school year.

News

Kalvin Bush signals to a friend that he doesn't have to cut in on this dance, while Berinia Harper takes the chance to see who she would have been dancing with.

Tina Garcia and Jose Burgos spend their last few minutes of prom exchanging farewell hugs and kisses.

Brian Jones and his date plan to make their feelings for each other with an intimate kiss.

Stunned by the announcement that she was voted prom queen, Jamie Valousky covers her mouth to keep from screaming in newly crowned king, John Meissler's ear.

Cooperation Makes for Success

Holiday Star, the new site for Hammond High's Prom, was the place to be on May 26, 1989. Seventy-five of the best dressed couples gathered to "Make It Last Forever."

Students and teachers joined for last minute preparations, trying to get decorations and prom plans together. They wanted to make sure everything was just right. Throughout the classrooms, students helped out by making streamers and flowers and other decorations in beautiful colors of mauve and silver. Couples attending prom spent most of their day preparing for this unforgettable night. Some tried not to forget a single thing, while others made sure they looked their best.

The Grand March started things off, and was then followed by dinner. One of the highlights of the evening was when John Meissler and Jami Valousky were crowned king and queen. As the night was coming to an end, things began to die down. The music slowly faded and the couples departed, knowing that this night was made to last forever.

Robert Price shows that he's having the time of his life at the Senior Prom.

Salutatorian Albert Kovera presents his speech to fellow graduates and the audience.

Success Hasn't Spoiled Us Yet

With every new school year there must fall a graduation. This year was no exception.

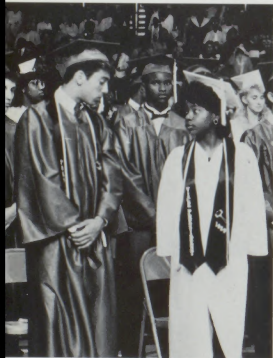

Leading the class of 1989 was no easy task as there was great competition among peers. But out of this contest of determined students, Shelley Sledge was named valedictorian and Albert Kovera was named salutatorian.

Having contributed a lot to Hammond High, this class was successful at achieving many goals.

Filled with athletes of all ranks and intellectuals of all caliber, this class took great strides to achieve an act that will be hard to follow.

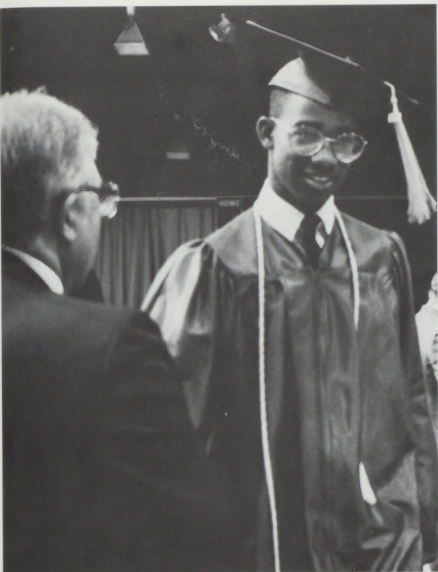

But even though they have made many dreams a reality here at Hammond High, they were not too upset when it came time to receive their diplomas.

Michael Rosenband and Tumara Campbell stare at each other questionably hoping that they've got what it takes to make it in today's world.

Scott De Angelo, Ruben De Luna, and Vetri Diggs watch sternly as their classmates receive their diplomas during commencement exercises.

Zuniza Jones smiles proudly after receiving his diploma and some advice from Mr. John George.

The crowd of parents and relatives gather in front of Hammond High after the graduation ceremony to congratulate the graduates.

Telling a Story

These are the pictures that tell the stories of four years of high school for the senior class. They tell what definite characteristics each student carries.

Usually, each student in the senior class receives a ballot and votes for such things as: cutest couple, best athlete, most likely to succeed, and shyest. This year it was a little different. The ballots were passed out on one of the days the underclassmen were taking the ISTEP tests. The seniors were told to report to the auditorium. A lot of the seniors did not show up on those days, therefore the entire senior class could not vote.

The votes were tallied by the class sponsors and results are posted. Each winner is recognized for his achievements, talents or qualities; and forever carries the title each won.

Best Smile — showing their pearly whites, Kathleen Orr and Matt March hold up their mirror images.

Class Clowns — goofing off doing what they do best, Joe Scott and Kaneeah Jones climb city hall's landscape.

Most School Spirited — Shelley Sledge and Jared Robinette are always showing their Wildcat pride by doing cheerleading poses and sporting their Hammond High attire.

Class Rebels, Rob Musgraves and Jenni Hartman show their rebellion towards school by standing on a desk, daring someone to knock them off.

Best Attitude Winners, Zunizia Jones and Diane Eberle show their positive attitudes by giving thumbs up.

Class Hot Rods, Cary Dukes and John Meissler, standing on their hoods, are not afraid to show which cars rule.

Class Flirt, Latasha Robinson tries to use her flirtatious mannerisms to persuade David Hall to pay attention to her.

Class Shyest, Sharon Wess and Jeff Rodeck try to hide from the publicity of being winners.

Class Party Animals, Vetri Diggs, Todd Dornick and Michelle Simkins are debating where to recycle their "empties."

Cutest Couple, Hugging her honey from behind, Jaml Valousky gives John Mudd the squeeze of his life.

Most Talented, Mike Allen whisks Tumara Campbell off her feet with his amazing talent.

Community

Going to school for seven hours a day is very strenuous, but for most people the day does not end there.

Pursuing a part-time job is the second identity of most people here at Hammond High. There are many reasons why people have part-time jobs. "The number one reason is money," says senior Missy Beitler. Other reasons are "Work experience, meeting new people, and just the desire to get out of the house," says sophomore Becky Schoop.

Where you decide to get a job depends on your likes and dislikes. For instance, some people choose fast food franchises such as McDonald's, Burger King and Taco Bell. Other people choose the major department stores like Carsons, Sears, Marshall Fields, and JCPenny.

Part-time jobs for teenagers would not be possible without the cooperation of the community. The businesses take trust and have faith in everyone they hire, when you become hired you are an active part of our prospering community. Although senior Amy Kosola says "Working late hours on school nights affects your work," but on the other hand, she feels work has prepared her for the world to come.

As Amy Wallskog performs her daily routine at Spot Light Video, she gives Rob Musgraves his movie.
